

Guide to the Food Supplement Program (FSP) in Maryland

2015 Edition

ABOUT MARYLAND HUNGER SOLUTIONS

Maryland Hunger Solutions' mission is to end hunger, improve nutrition, and promote the well-being of Marylanders in need through education, advocacy, outreach, and collaboration. To accomplish this goal, we work in areas of the state with high concentrations of low-income residents to expand use of the federal nutrition programs (SNAP/Food Stamps, known in Maryland as the Food Supplement Program; school lunch and breakfast; afterschool, summer, and child care nutrition programs; and WIC) by engaging in public education, research and information dissemination, networking, training, technical assistance, outreach efforts, and advocacy. We seek to promote best practices to increase participation, to ensure that the federal nutrition programs are fully implemented, to research and analyze the extent of hunger and food hardship, to raise awareness through education and outreach, and to advocate for needed policy and systems changes to better serve those in need.

Established in 2007, MDHS is a separately staffed and funded initiative of the Food Research and Action Center. Maryland Hunger Solutions is a core member of the Partnership to End Childhood Hunger, a public-private coalition led by the Governor's Office for Children to raise awareness about childhood hunger in the state and increase participation in nutrition programs that combat hunger.

Maryland Hunger Solutions works closely with state and local organizations to improve participation in and expand access to the Food Supplement Program (FSP). In 2013, Maryland Hunger Solutions supported the acceptance of FSP benefits at nine farmers' markets in Baltimore City and two in Baltimore County, further increasing access to healthy food for FSP/food stamp recipients Maryland.

The project was made possible through generous funding from the Abell Foundation, Crossroads Community Food Network, Kaiser Permanente of the Mid-Atlantic States, the Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Foundation, and the Wholesome Wave Foundation Charitable Ventures.

WHAT IS FSP/SNAP/FOOD STAMPS?

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), formerly known as the Food Stamp program, is the federal government's biggest supplemental nutrition program. The program is not welfare. Your federal tax dollars pay for these benefits and you are entitled to use this program as long as you are eligible to participate. There is no time limit. In Maryland, SNAP is known as the Food Supplement Program (FSP).

Food stamps, SNAP and FSP all refer to the same program.

- The Food Supplement Program (FSP) helps over 790,000 Marylanders buy groceries each month. With FSP, individuals and families stretch their grocery dollars in order to buy healthier and fresher foods.
- In Maryland, the average monthly FSP benefit is about $127 per person. FSP may not pay for all of your groceries, but it can help you buy the basics like bread and milk, or it can help you buy more fruits and vegetables. If you get FSP, you can use more of the money you were spending on groceries to pay for rent, utility bills, child care, or other important expenses.
- FSP benefits come each month on an Electronic Benefit Transfer (EBT) card, which is like a bank or debit card. In Maryland, the EBT card is called an Independence Card.

FSP benefits can only be used to buy certain food items, such as:

- Non-hot groceries (fresh fruits and vegetables, canned goods, frozen foods, bread, milk)
- Plants and seeds that will grow into fresh fruits and vegetables or herbs
- You cannot buy these things with FSP:
 - Alcohol or tobacco
 - Hot prepared foods
 - Soap or paper products
 - Vitamins and medicines
 - Pet food (except for service animals)

WHO CAN GET FSP?

Many people can get FSP, including people in these groups:

- U.S. citizens;
- Many immigrants who came to the U.S. legally (more information below);
- Citizens or legal permanent resident children;
- Low-income workers and unemployed people;
- People experiencing homelessness; and
- People in battered women's shelters or programs, community health programs, alcohol and drug treatment centers, and homeless shelters.

People in these groups usually cannot get FSP benefits:

- Most people on strike;
- All undocumented immigrants; and
- People who have not followed FSP rules in the past.

Immigrants who are here legally can get FSP if they are:

- Children (under the age of 18);
- Serving in the U.S. military;
- Disabled;
- Cuban or Haitian;
- Victims of human trafficking;
- Refugees;
- Asylees;
- Immigrants with a postponed deportation status;
- Immigrants who have had a Green Card (Lawful Permanent Resident status) for a minimum of five years;
- Immigrants who were in the U.S. legally and were 65 or older as of 8/22/1996; or
- Documented immigrants who have worked in the U.S. for at least 10 years (even if they were undocumented during some of those 10 years).

DO I APPLY FOR FSP BY MYSELF OR FOR MY HOUSEHOLD?

Whether you can get FSP benefits depends on your household size, gross monthly income, and basic living expenses. The first step to find out if you are eligible is figuring out your household size.

According to FSP guidelines, your household size is the number of people who live together and purchase and prepare food together on a regular basis.

- Some people that live together cannot apply separately and must all be on the same application. These people are:
 - Married couples who live together; and
 - People 22 and under who live with their parents or guardians.
(In these cases, if one person in the household applies, the other people must also be on the application.)
- Elderly people and disabled people who live with others can apply as a separate household (or as a couple, if they are married). An elderly person is any individual age 60 or older, while a disabled person is someone receiving certain federal or state disability payments.

Even if only one member of a family is eligible for FSP, you can still apply for FSP support and get some benefits. Just because one member of a household may not be eligible for FSP does not mean that the whole family is ineligible — even in cases of immigration status.

- Simply tell the caseworker that you are applying for the people who can get FSP to get it.
Undocumented immigrants will not get FSP.
- The Department of Social Services (where all the applications are processed) will need dates of birth and income information for everyone in the household, whether or not they qualify for FSP. They will need Social Security numbers for the eligible people. Then, they will calculate the amount of money that only the eligible people will receive from FSP.
- Applying for FSP does not affect immigration status in the United States. This information is not shared with immigration authorities, unless someone applies with false information.
- Someone who applies for or receives FSP will not be deported or be denied residency or citizenship. This is a nutrition program and does not affect immigration status.

DO I MAKE TOO MUCH MONEY TO GET FSP?

Gross Monthly Income Guidelines for FSP

To see if your household might qualify for benefits, look at the chart below. Use the number of people in your household to see if your household's income (from employment and/or benefits) before taxes falls within FSP eligibility guidelines.

How many people live in your house? (household size) Is your gross monthly income less than this? If so, you may be eligible for benefits.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
	$1,945	$2,621	$3,298	$3,975	$4,651	$5,328	$6,005	$6,681

Whether you can get FSP or not depends on your income and on expenses like rent, utilities, child care, and medical bills. If your income is less than the guidelines above, you should apply for FSP to see if you are eligible for a benefit.

Benefit Amount Based on Household Size

The average FSP benefit in the state of Maryland is $130 a month. The minimum and maximum benefit amounts are listed below, based on household size. How much you can get depends on your income and expenses.

How many people live in your house? (household size) You could get this much a month in FSP benefits.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
	$16 ↑ ↓ $194	$16 ↑ ↓ $357	$16 ↑ ↓ $511	$16 ↑ ↓ $649	$16 ↑ ↓ $771	$16 ↑ ↓ $925	$16 ↑ ↓ $1022	$16 ↑ ↓ $1169

HOW DO I SIGN UP FOR FSP?

Step 1: Start an application

Fill out all the information that you can on the application. Your caseworker will ask you anything else the agency needs to know.

- Online Application — Go to www.marylandsail.org
 - Click on “Start/Update Application” and then “Start Application.”
 - Select “Food Supplement Program” and any other programs you would like to apply for.
 - Write down your control ID number, located at the top of the page, so that you can finish the application later if you need to.
- Paper Application — Paper applications are available at local Department of Social Services (DSS).
 - Paper applications can be picked up from any Department of Social Services office. You may have someone pick up an application for you.
 - Call your local DSS office and request to have an application mailed to you.
 - Visit http://www.dhr.state.md.us/blog/?page_id=2845 to download and print an application.
- Phone Application — Call Maryland Hunger Solutions (410-528-0021) for help filling out an application over the phone.

Make sure you include these expenses on your application:

- Expenses like rent, mortgage, and utilities (even if your name is not on the bills);
- Child care or adult care expenses (out-of-home care, transportation, and co-pays — even if they are not paid to a formal company); and
- For elderly and disabled people, medical expenses that total $35 or more per month (like co-pays, doctors’ bills, over-the-counter and prescription expenses, and transportation costs).

Step 2: Turn in the application

- It doesn’t matter if the application is not complete. As long as your name, address, and signature are there, it will be accepted.
- Online application (faster): The application will be sent directly to the Department of Social Services when you click “Submit.”
- Paper application (slower): Turn in the application to the closest Department of Social Services office. (There is a list of locations at the end of this booklet.) You should drop it off in person. Make sure you get a receipt when you drop off your application, and keep it for your records.

Step 3: Complete the interview

- If you prefer to do a telephone interview, request a telephone interview when you fill out your application (in the “Comments” section online) and/or call the office when you get a letter about your interview from DSS.
- If you drop off an application in person, you can get an interview the same day or schedule one for a different day.
- During the interview, you will meet a case manager. This person will ask you the same kinds of questions that you were asked on the application and will fill in extra information. The case manager can also help you apply for other programs.
- The case manager will tell you which documents you need to turn in. If you have a telephone interview, the agency might send a follow-up letter with an envelope to send the documents back.
- Ask questions during your interview. It is important that you understand everything about the program so that you can get FSP.
- Write down the name and phone number of your caseworker in case you need to contact him or her later.

HOW DO I SIGN UP FOR FSP?

Step 4: Turn in documents

- Turn in your documents as soon as possible. You may not get FSP if you do not do this or if you do it too late.
- Documents that you may be required to turn in to your case manager might include:
 - Proof of identity — a photo ID or a friend, neighbor, or family member who can verify your name and identity;
 - Proof that you live in Maryland — a photo ID with a current, Maryland address, mail that is addressed to you, or a signed letter from your neighbor;
 - Proof of Income — pay stubs, letters from Social Security, VA benefits, educational scholarships, grants or loans, unemployment payments, or your employer’s name and phone number;
 - Proof of Housing Expenses — recent rent or mortgage payment receipts;
 - Proof of Immigration Status — immigration or naturalization papers; and
 - Proof of Child Support Payment — proof of legal payment obligation and amount you are paying.
- Your case manager will tell you, either during your interview or in the form of a letter, if the agency requires any further documents to verify information on your original application.
- Someone else can turn the documents in for you. Just make sure you get a receipt for everything you turn in!

Step 5: Approval

- The Department of Social Services (DSS) has 30 days from the date of your application to tell you if you will get FSP or not (or seven days if you qualify for “expedited food stamps”). If the agency approves your application, you will get a letter that says how much you will get each month. You will also get your EBT card with information about how to activate it.
- Even if you don’t get FSP/food stamps, you will get a letter that explains why.
- If you do not get a letter that says whether you were approved or not, or if you think the agency should not have denied you or that the amount the agency gave you was wrong, you should file an appeal in writing.
 - You have 90 days after receiving your notice to file an appeal.
 - If you need a lawyer, get in touch with Legal Aid:
Maryland Legal Aid, 500 East Lexington Street, Baltimore, MD 21202, (410) 951-7777

Step 6: Keep up with the program

- Make sure you notify DSS of important changes (household size, income, rent, utilities, etc.)
 - Do this by filling out a Change Report Form at your local DSS office.

Step 7: Complete the re-determination

- The Department of Social Services will send you a re-determination letter in the mail six months after you apply. This letter will include a form that you have to fill out and mail back in order to keep getting FSP. If you need help reading or understanding the letter or form, call Maryland Hunger Solutions (410-528-0021).
Note: Elderly people and disabled people will receive this form 12 months after they apply. People experiencing homelessness will receive it in three months.*
- You will also have to turn in documents and might have to do an interview for the re-determination.
- This is a very important step, so make sure to keep an eye on your mail around this time of the year and ask for help if you have problems filling out the form or sending it back.

Other Helpful Tips

- Make sure you get a receipt every time you turn new documents in to the Department of Social Services.
- If you are having trouble with your case, have questions about your benefits, or think you are receiving the wrong amount of FSP every month, contact your case manager, case manager's supervisor, or the Department of Human Resources hotline at 1-800-332-6347.

WHAT ARE MY RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES?

You have the right to:

- Receive forms the same day that you go to the DSS office.
- Be tested to receive “expedited food stamps” (food stamps given within seven days of applying).
- Fill out only your name, address, and signature before turning in an application.
- Turn in your application at DSS the same day that you fill it out, as long as it is during normal operating hours.
- Request interpretation and language services in a language other than English to be provided to you free of charge.

You should:

- Give complete and correct information. If you give false information, you might lose your FSP benefits. Sometimes, fines or criminal charges can be filed against people who lie on their application.
- Let your caseworker know about any changes that you have to report, like a change in your income or number of people in your family.
- Keep your appointment at DSS. (However, if you miss the appointment, be sure to call your caseworker right away to get a new appointment.)
- Always request a receipt for documents you turn in.

The caseworker should:

- Explain the program rules to you.
- Ask questions to finish the application.
- Give a list of documents that you need to bring in to finish your application.
